

Percival W Pandy Jr is the current Linkage to Care Coordinator at the Black AIDS Institute. Over the last five years he has been a champion for public health in Los Angeles County specifically in the areas of homeless individuals and inner city youth. He previously serviced in a leadership capacity with the C2PLA Coalition, as the Co-chair of the Homeless and Runaway Youth Subcommittee which created several sustainable community ventures to help promote building life skills for youth. He is continuously striving to eliminate barriers to healthcare and social services to people who need them in the community.
